Eric Schaner of the Delaware City Public Works Department empties a jug of used motor oil at Saturday's Household Hazardous Waste, Tire, Computer, and Cell Phone Dropoff Event at the Delaware County Fairgrounds. Nearly 400 residents dropped off significant amounts of fertilizer, pesticides, and motor oil and filled a semi trailer with computer components. The annual service is provided by the Delaware-Knox-Marion-Morrow Solid Waste District and Keep Delaware County Beautiful, the Delaware General Health District's recycling and litter prevention program.

Dan Vaughn of Sims Bros. Recycling hands an old CPU to Billy Duncan, a volunteer manning the computer truck at Saturday's Household Hazardous Waste, Tire, Computer, and Cell Phone Dropoff Event at the Delaware County Fairgrounds. The computer dropoff was the busiest station at the event, and the trailer was packed full after four hours. Nearly 400 residents also dropped off significant amounts of fertilizer, pesticides, and motor oil. The annual service is provided by the Delaware-Knox-Marion-Morrow Solid Waste District and Keep Delaware County Beautiful, the Delaware General Health District's recycling and litter prevention program.
